

HEALING TIMELINE

MICROBLADING AND/OR SHADING PROCEDURE

Day 1:

Your brows will look amazing and you won't stop staring at them in the mirror! Prepare your phone for selfies! (light swelling, redness, and tenderness are completely normal)

Days 2-3:

Your brows will look much darker. You be concerned with the color but don't be alarmed, this is normal!

Days 3-6:

You will notice light scabbing and some itching. Remember, do not pick or scratch the area. If you must itch, gently dab them with a clean, lightly damp Q-tip.

Days 7-14:

This is when some people get concerned. They will look like they are falling off and disappearing as the scab flakes off. It is normal to see pigment come off with the scabbing. Don't freak out!

Days 15-21:

Your brows will appear significantly lighter and patchy in some areas. This disappearing phase is totally normal. This is the skins natural process in healing adding a new layer of skin around the hair strokes. Again, don't freak out!

Days 21+:

Yay! Your brows have fully healed and the true pigment is exposed.

Day 28:

Time for your 4-6 week touch up. This session is to add another layer of hair stokes and any adjustments to shape, color and add in any hair strokes that may have fallen out during the healing process.

*This is a guide to the average healing process and may differ for individual results.